That is Reason Why Council- Lions Club Will Chairman Of Works Ingle-hart Withheld Petition Until Next Year — Some Con-tractors Even Refused To Tender.

Last spring a petition was circulated and largely signed by the residents of Robinson street south, roadway.

Councillor John Hewitt discussed the proposition at length with ward Inglehart and as a result of lustrated with moving pictures. those talks held back the petition until Chairman Inglehart could investigate the possibilities of being able to get the work done.

As a result Councillor Hewitt did not present the petition to council. If he had done so, it would have been filed and that is all there would have been to it, as the 1946 council could not take any action other petition would have to be circulated and signed and this entailed a lot of work. As it stands now, the original petition can be presented to next years council for their approval and action.

FACTS & FANCIES

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

"If you want to live in the kind of town Like the kind of town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip And start on a long, long hike. You'll only find what you left behind, For there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock to yourself when you knock your town-It isn't your Town-its You. Real towns aren't made by men afraid. Lest somebody else gets ahead. When everyone works and nobody shirks You can raise a town from the dead. And if while you make your personal stake Your neighbor can make one too, Your town will be what you want to see; It isn't your Town-it's You!"

WORRYING ABOUT THE NATIONAL DEBT

In one of his pawky patter interludes, Harry Lauder used to tell of how one day he found his out-of-work brother sitting with his head propped on his fist and a worried look on his face, gazing into the kitchen fire. "What are you sitting there worrying about?" enquired Harry. To which his brother replied in a dismal tone, "I was just thinking about the National Debt."

The idea of an "expanding economy" is based upon historical fact. There has been a continual expansion in every direction under the capitalist system. In the past three hundred years, beginning with the expansion of world trade, largely promoted by British explorers and traders, there has been an industrial and commercial expansion beyond anything ever known in the world before. This industrial development called forth the inventive spirit, resulting in the machine age and all the marvels of modern science and mechanics, the latest of which is the atomic

With this industrial and commercial expansion we have had a steady rise in the standard of living, which in turn called for rises in wages and prices. Between these two latter-wages and prices-there has been a perpetual race, which is the chief cause of most of our labor disputes and strikes. No sooner are wages pushed ahead of prices than prices take a spurt to catch up, and so the race goes on. This race was speeded up during the First World War when both wages and prices pressed ahead without much attempt at control, and they kept a fairly even pace. During the Last World War (that should be its perpetual title) wages raced ahead while prices were held back, and now that the war is over Labor is demanding wage increases without increase in prices. This is not only illogical, it is industrially and commercially suicidal.

The market value of any commodity is determined by the cost of its production. The price at which it is sold must cover the cost of labor, plus that of the raw materials, management, distribution, taxes and other expenditures for maintaining and promoting the industry. If the selling price does not cover all these costs, then the industry will decline and unemployment will follow as night follows day. This law of expansion applies whether industry is run under government or private ownership. No socialistic theories can change this fixed law of wages and prices, and the sooner organized labor realizes and acknowledges that fact the better for labor, for industry and the nation as a whole.

It seems to me that Labor is, like Harry Lauder's out-of-work brother, worrying too much about the National Debt and other abstract economic problems when it should be concentrating on the job of ensuring a high and rising national income and standard of living by higher production.

RECIPE FOR APPLE PIE

Moralizing in pictures-movies, that is -has its pitfalls. Sometimes it spoils good entertainment, sometimes it verges on propaganda. But sometimes just the right few words can be injected into a script which not only carry a punch but "do a job," if you know what we mean. For instance, in the current motion picture, "Over 21."

The editor of a New York paper hasn't time to write editorials while he dries himself 16 hours a day in an Officer Carlidate School. So his wife secretly substitutes for him. She starts with a piece called "The World and Apple Pie." Wifey knows nothing about pie, but she can write. She says you make a world the same wayyou make a pie -with the right ingredients. For what comes out can never be better than the things that go into it. If the smallest ingredient is wrong - like Manchuria or Ethiopia or Munich-the pie can't come out right, if you get what we mean. You put in what you want to come out:

Is it happiness you want? Then start by making certain of the happiness of two billion other souls on this planet. And prosperity? Then mix in prosperity for every other human being alive. . . . Lasting peace? And a life of the spirit for yourself and children? . . . Is that what you want? Then add to those the same things for two billion others, of every kind and creed. And, finally, add this, too. . . add the Sermon on the Mount as the rule of life. And add your voice and your means and your strength until there is mercy and justice for the humblest man on earth.

Sound philosophy and clear, and very appropriate just at this time when all of us are trying-or should be trying-to make a new world. Have we all got the recipe?

ROBBING PETER

(The Elora Express) Now that the 9th Victory Loan has been successfully concluded in North Wellington we are free to express the surprise which we felt on receiving a circular letter suggesting that the Family Allowance money should be used to purchase Victory Bonds.

While the idea might have had something to recommend it from the viewpoint of savings, as we understand the purpose of Family Allowances it was to supplement the immediate needs in families where there is not enough money to supply such things as medical and dental care, milk, cod liver oil, school books, etc., that the allowance came into being. If it is not needed for these, there seems to be no good purpse served by the immense taxation and offce staff necessary to administer it.

We have tried to keep an open mind on the subject of the family allowance, feeling that if it accomplished just a little in the lines suggested above it might be worth at least a try and pave the way for better health and education for enough children to justify it. WHO KNOWS

Hamilton, Oct. 29, 1945

Mr. Orlon Livingston,

In the shadow of the huge maples on Main street, was the confectionery store of the late Claude Randall now who can recall where it was located?

What is a Jinrikisha or palaquin?-a Chinese conveyance if you please-now what year was it that the villagers witnessed an interesting oriental character from Cantung, on the street in front of his place of business, when across from the famous Lincoln House ,was a sign, Wah Sing, Chinese hand laundry?

He was frequently seen on the board walk and under the shady maples in his native garb, which consisted of smock and slacks, heelless shoes or slippers and down his back hung his long black cue or pig-tail.

He prized his chinese coins (with the square hole in the centre) and his abacus. His diet was chiefly imported rice with pork chops, (no ration) and he used chop sticks when eating. Imported Chinese green tea was his beverage. His motto of course, No Tickee, no washee. Who has a photograph of the late John Farrell, seated in the heel of a huge shoe that was used in the Labor day parade back in 1908? Hoping these items will continue to revive the Village age.

I remain Francis Hill PUNKIN PIE

(by John Gould, in Christian Science Monitor.) What you need first of all is a bakersheet 18 inches times 24 inches, and if you don't have one you might as well turn right now to the Home Forum Page and don't bother to come back. I am about to tell how Grandmother made her Thanksgiving punkin pie, and while this isn't for birdlike appetites, and isn't for sensitive recollections now living removed, or for people who can't get a-hold or a decent punkin, it definitely isn't for people without bakersheets.

This pie, the one Grandmother made, had a perspective, and some said it had a tide worse than Fundy, and everybody said it was the best thing he ever stuck a tooth in, and nobody is known to have passed it up for any reason whatever unless maybe his horse was running away and he couldn't get him to turn into the dooryard.

Naturally you need, also, an oven that will hold an 18x24 baker-sheet, and it would help create the right atmosphere if 15 or 20 children were playing around the kitchen and you had to step over them back and forth with the loaded baker-sheet in your hands. If you've never had a real land-of-the-Pilgrim's-pride Thanksgiving punkin pie it's time you had, and here's the way:

You can't of course, just use any old kind of a punkin. Those big yaller kinds they have southerly wth a flannel lining don't have the right pertness, and the little sugar punkins so highly praised in the seed catalogs aren't much better. You mustn't, in any event, use a pumpkin, which is a strange and furrin critter when it comes to a holiday pie and belongs in the society columns. What you want is an old-time punkin, a plain, or nary cow-punkin-the kind they had in the old days when they also had 18x24 baker-sheets and ovens to hold them. The newer punkins have fooled a great many people, and while they may do for some, they won't work at all on Grandmother's Thanksgiving r'ceet.

These real punkins weigh up to 70 or 80 pounds and I can prove it, and they have a pailful of seeds in them big enough to step a mast on and make toy boats. You chop one of these fellers in two, scoop out the seeds with your hands, and lay the seeds to dry on a piece of paper, Next year you'll plant some. Then you peel most of the punkin and put the chunks (you spell it chunks, but you pronounce it junks) into a big stew-kittle and boil it.

Secret here is to boil it dry. You put only a little water to start on and you boil until tender, and you gradually let the water boil out until the punkin begins to catch on a little. You don't want a runny mess when you come to strain the punkin through a sieve into the big yellow bowl with blue stripes. You strain enough to have eight cups of punkin.

Next you take eight eggs and beat them until they stand up and yell uncle. Some people boil the milk, but it doesn't need to be; you want eight cups of milk. That's two quarts, and nobody cares if it's homogenized or not. To hear some people talk, you'd think milk isn't any good until it's educated. Next you want two cups of molasses. The jug is easier to handle if you loop a string through the finger-hole and have a stick on it, but that isn't necessary. Four teaspoons of cinnamon, four teaspoons of ginger, and two teaspoons of salt, That's all. You mix everything up in the bowl and when one arm gets tired you use the other. Doesn't smell bad at all,

Then you take your 18x24 baker-sheet and line tive designs are ready for it with dough. This is a neat trick all by itself. | your selection. Choose them Grandmother used to roll the dough out evenly and then wrap it backwards around the rolling-pin. Quickly, then, she would unwind it over the pan and press it into shape at the corners and along the edges. She'd run the rolling-pin along over the top, and the pressure would cut the dough off flush. sometimes she'd crimp the edges, but 18x24 is considerable to crimp.

Then you pour in the punkin mixture and have yourself a time maneuvering the whole thing into the oven. Grandmother had some way to tell how hot the stove was by the color of the flue, or something like that, but nowadays they have thermometers and you will want yours to say something like 350 degrees. If the oven's het right, you can allow pretty near an hour for the right result—you Business Directory go by the color and by the smell, and it helps have the 15 or 20 children peeking in over your shoulder when you look. A pie of this area has to be sot to one side to cool a spell, but it is shortly ready so a privileged grandchild can have one of the corner pieces. It is well to remember, however, that a baker-sheet has only four corners, and this deficiency sometimes promotes trouble where there are more than four grandchildren.

Occasionally I have run into people who say they would just as soon have some other kind of pie. When there's punkin pie on the table, I'd just as soon they would, too.

STARTED BY NEWSPAPER

In 1876, the late Melville E, Stone, founder of the Associated Press, decided that Chicago should have a penny paper to compete with the nickel ones

The Stumbling block was that there were no pennies in circulation there. So stone, then 28, went to merchants to argue that in the average person's mind 99 cents was a much smaller sum than one dollar. He begged and pleaded and finally convinced them that odd prices would increase their business, and incidentally start pennies circulating that would buy his paper.

He sent to the Philadelphia mint for several Saturdays Only - 2 to 5 p.m. barrels of pennies and became Chicago's first penny importer. The idea took hold, his Daily News was a success, and odd-price bargains were born.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

How would you like-

To go out to the woodpile every morning and whack up enough wood for the breakfast fire in the old range?

To hike over to the icehouse every morning and get a chunk of ice so ma could keep the milk sweet and the butter firm? To go out to the well every morning and fill up the water buckets so ma could wash and cook all To trim the wicks on a lot of kerosene lamps and polish chimneys with old newspapers so you could read at night? To go to bed every night with the chickens because there wouldn't be anything to keep you awake? If you would, you'd like to live in the good old days they're always talking about. A COLD WEATHER QUESTION Young ladies I would question you, If I may be so bold; How can you stand that overcoat

If your bare legs don't get cold?

. . . . You never hear a busy man complaining about his lot in life. It's always the loafer who does the kicking.

The man who can keep on putting everything off until tomorrow hopes that someone else will step in and do the job.

JUST A LOT ABOUT NOTHING-It had to happen sometime and it did on Friday night. KAY PYNDYK bowling in champinship style toppled LITTLE MARY NORTON off one of her three record holding pedestals. KAY now holds the high single in the PEACH QUEEN'S league with a 346. She rolled 346-181-204 for a three gans total of 731. To make the victory more complete her team the CRAW-FORDS whipped MARY'S team the VALIANTS 3-0 . . . MARY still has the high average and the high triple scores. . . . Not one team in the QUEEN'S league, last week, had a total score less than 2100. VANGUARDS 2106 was the lowest total score in the whole league. That is something for some of the men's teams to think about. . . . GAS HOUSE takes four points from WEST END, but at the rate they were bowling they shouldn't have been in the alleys at all. SHELTON brothers came out of their slump and pulled them through. CLAYT. RAHN the deerless hunter might just as well stayed in the north. If he cannot shoot any better than he bowled Monday night it is no wonder the deer are all safe. . . . Poor old FIREMEN, the way they were rolling them down they couldn't even put a fire out. At that PIN TWISTERS were not going much better. If it hadn't been for WILBERT ZIMMER-MAN'S 787 they might just as well have been home by the fireside. . . CHARLIE NORMAN is certainly carrying the load on that PIRATES team. It has got so that it keeps LITTLE WHIZZER busy to get 300 for two games. And the BLACK CATS clawed the HEP CATS. No wonder. MIKE SOUTHWARD dropped from the heavens with a 200-242-289 for a total of 731. He was the only player on either team with a score higher than 563. Bring on your girl bowlers. . . . LLOYD HAY-NES is starting to strike his stride again for the LEGIONAIRRES. . . Well, Well, Well Councillor PHELPS rolled 621. He had a high of 266. Remarkable. . . . BILL FISHER falling away to a 418 and WRAY BETTS bowling a 652. Those BUTCHERS are peculiar

Tuesday night. They had nine games over 200, with HAMMY FOX topping the list with 301, At that they lost the second game. . . HEP CATS took the Boulevard 3-1. IRVINE LEVINE trundled 228-206-275 for a 709. . . . MR. BAXTER, K.C. is beginning to show ife again. He is getting back around the 200 mark. . . . Hope to have a lot of hockey news and views for you next week. Work at the ARENA is going on apace and GEORGIE MARR will soon be ice. It is not definitely known yet whether UNCLE THOMAS-INE WARNER will be kicked out of the R.C.A.F. to come back to his ace would not seem natural without OLD CLOTHES being volub

A Home of Her Own

The girls in khaki and blue have their hearts set on a home of their own rather than a career, it seems.

The re-establishment credit of 85% of the girls discharged from the services up to the end of August, a sum totalling $79,670, has been used to buy furniture and household equipment. None of the girls has yet used her credit to purchase a business.

Glossary

A clever miss with a needle made herself a handsome white crepe blouse not so long ago. Touched by what fashion is calling the "Chinese influence" this season, she looked around for some effective Oriental characters to embroider down one side. She found them on an old laundry slip. When finished, the blouse was a great success, admired every place she went. She was quite pleased with the job herself, three or four feet away. A good until she wore it on the street car one day, and noticed two Chinese gentlemen looking first interested, then astonished, and finally outrageously and uncontrollably amused. Puzzled, she took her blouse to a bilingual friend. The motto suffered a little in translation, but the text of it is the same in any language. She had carefully listed in blatant red silk the contents of a lady's intimate laundry bundle.

Hello Homemakers! Home lighting by electricity makes our work easier, but we are often careless in failing to use it to the best advantage. Insufficient or improper lighting can be guarded against. Use a table lamp placed so that the light shines on the work in hand from the left side. If there is not a close enough outlet, use an extension cord. Inside frosted bulbs and white-lined shades are highly recommended. Sixty to 100 watt bulbs are suggested for tedious work when the light source is light will prevent unnecessary fatigue and strain from cleaning cupboards, painting, scrubbing, ironing or any household chore.

ed in huts eight miles away, and were taken back and forward in an electric train, three hundred men being packed into cars built to seat fifty. It was the dailly joy of our guards to stow us into this small space, their boots and swordsticks being used for this purpose. In our sleeping quarters we were packed almost as closely. Our huts were heated with miserable charcoal fires, but often for four or five days there was no charcoal, although there was six inches of snow outside, and we had been working all day in slush.

For months at a time our food was three small bowls of rice a day, with two small bowls of seaweed soup, and for a change a soup made of the tops of potati plants. For a special treat we were given grass-hoppers and squid.

We rose at five in the morning. and had long dreary days of travelling to and from our work, not to mention the laborious nature of the work given to us, and the suspicious watchfulness of our vicious guards. No books, no paper, and even all our own private papers were destroyed. We did Coolie
